

Do You Want a Pipeline Going Through Hancock County?

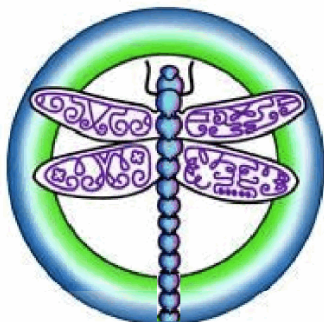

An East West Industrial Utilities Corridor has been proposed to travel from Eastport, through Townships 33, 34, and Great Pond in Hancock County, then across the Penobscot Reservation, on its way to Coburn Gore. It is a highway and pipeline route that puts property and wildlife habitat at risk. Several communities have passed laws that will stop the corridor from being built, but those are not located in Hancock County.

A program, with video and discussion, on the threats the East West Industrial Utilities Corridor poses and what communities can do to defend against it and similar threats will be presented on:

Friday, March 4th, at 7pm at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Ellsworth, 121 Bucksport Rd (Route 3).

Sherri Mitchell, Indigenous Rights attorney and member of the Penobscot Nation is the featured speaker.

Wabanaki allies and the general public are welcome to attend.

The event is organized by the Community Union of Hancock County, the UU Peace and Social Action Committee, and the Maine Community Rights Network.
